They Saw His Glory: A Story Of Confidence

In Luke 9:35, the King James Version (KJV) reads: "And there came a voice out of the cloud, saying, This is my beloved Son: hear him." This verse is a pivotal moment in the New Testament, as it marks the Transfiguration of Jesus Christ. The Transfiguration is an event in which Jesus' appearance is transformed, and he is seen conversing with Moses and Elijah. The disciples Peter, James, and John witness this event, and it is a powerful affirmation of Jesus' divine nature.

The context of this verse is important to understand its significance. Prior to the Transfiguration, Jesus had been teaching his disciples about the cost of discipleship and the nature of his ministry. He had also predicted his own suffering and death, and the disciples were struggling to comprehend the magnitude of what Jesus was telling them. The Transfiguration serves as a reaffirmation of Jesus' identity as the Son of God and provides reassurance to the disciples that they are following the true Messiah.

The theme of the Transfiguration centers on the revelation of Jesus' divine nature and the fulfillment of the Old Testament prophecies. The appearance of Moses and Elijah alongside Jesus represents the fulfillment of the Law and the Prophets, as Jesus is the culmination of God's redemptive plan for humanity. The voice from the cloud, which is identified as the voice of God, further confirms Jesus' identity as the beloved Son of God. This event serves as a turning point in Jesus' ministry, as it foreshadows his impending sacrifice and resurrection.

The symbolism in this verse is rich and profound. The cloud from which the voice emanates is reminiscent of the cloud that led the Israelites during their exodus from Egypt and symbolizes God's presence and guidance. The voice from the cloud recalls the voice of God speaking at Jesus' baptism, affirming Jesus' identity once again. The command to "hear him" emphasizes the importance of listening to Jesus' teachings and following his example, as he is the ultimate authority on matters of faith and salvation.
